Executive Director and CEO

Domestic Abuse and Sexual Assault Crisis Center of Warren County (DASACC)

Jill Kracov Zinckgraf is the Executive Director of the Domestic Abuse and Sexual Assault Crisis Center of Warren County, a non-profit she transformed into NJ's premiere crisis intervention, advocacy, and prevention center. A bold, collaborative non-profit executive, Jill leverages 25+ years of agency and grassroots leadership to engage diverse coalitions in elevating the voices of those impacted by interpersonal violence through a multidisciplinary, inclusive approach to ending domestic violence and sexual assault.

In addition to her leadership of DASACC, Jill is the Board of Trustees Chair for the New Jersey Coalition Against Sexual Assault (NJCASA), providing statewide advocacy for survivor-centered legislation, training for allied professionals, prevention strategies, and compassionate support for survivors.

A strong proponent of tackling the intersectionality of poverty and abuse, Jill was the Director of Development for Oasis - A Haven for Women and Children where she significantly enhanced fundraising, public relations, and volunteerism to break the cycle of poverty for women and children.

Prior to Oasis, Jill led fundraising, public relations, and domestic violence response operations as the Director of Marketing & Development for Women Aware, Middlesex County's lead advocacy agency. In addition to presenting on violence prevention and response at national forums, Jill was the moderator of the SmartTalk Women speaker series, interviewing female celebrities in politics, business, and the arts.

As a Women's Studies Professor and DVRT and SART Trainer, Jill educated thousands of public officials, service providers, organizations, and students on the importance of community teamwork to end domestic violence, including mobilizing a network of 200+ volunteers to deliver 150+ training programs as the Domestic Violence Response Team Coordinator for Passaic County Women's Center.

Jill serves on the NJ State Police Advisory Board, Human Services Advisory Council of Warren County, and is the President of the Hackettstown Rotary Club.

Inspired to deliver breakthrough solutions and create a social, political, and economic environment in which violence against women no longer exists, Jill is completing her EdD in Organizational Leadership at Stockton University to engage all voices in the social justice model. She earned a Master of Public Administration from Rutgers University, Bachelor of Arts in Women's Studies from William Paterson University, and Associate Degree from County College of Morris.

A dedicated partner to healthcare, business, and educational institutions, Jill was named BW NICE's 2018 Businesswoman of the Year, NJBIZ's Healthy Workplace Healthcare Hero, and was recognized for her turnaround of DASACC in a 2019 Forbes publication.

An avid nature and animal lover, Jill enjoys spending time with her husband and four grown children, hiking the beautiful Adirondacks, and engaging with her energetic dog and office companion, Rudy.
