

Renée Steinhagen is the Executive Director of New Jersey Appleseed; a nonprofit law center she co-founded in the mid-1990s to advance justice and empower communities across the state. A leading public interest attorney, she has built a career advocating for government transparency, equitable health care, environmental justice, and democratic reform.

Renée currently serves on the leadership team of the New Jersey for Healthcare Coalition, where she has been at the forefront of efforts to eliminate surprise medical billing and reduce financial burdens on insured patients. Until recently she served on the board of the Greater Newark Healthcare Coalition, which operates an innovative Medicaid Accountable Care Organization serving Newark residents and she is currently the Executive Team Lead for Voter Choice New Jersey, a 501c3 organization that is working to advance the use of Ranked-Choice Voting (RCV) in New Jersey.
